Carr Family

This name has several forms of spelling, and it has been determined that there are several separate and distinct families bearing the name.

The English family of Carr, seated in Northumberland, considers itself of French origin, dating back to the family of Carre in France.

The Scottish family of Kerr, Ker, Carr is of Anglo-Saxon stock which migrated to Scotland about the year 1300. However, the Carrs of England and France have the same armorial bearings, the Scottish Kerrs bear the same arms but with different tinctures. It is held that most of the American Carrs are traceable to the Scottish family.

There are various theories as to the original source and meaning of the name Carr. Most Authorities attribute its derivation to a locality- signifying moist soil- a wood or grove of alders. In Anglo- Saxon the word signifies a lock, caer in Celtic indicates a fortification. The name is applied in many districts where some castle or eathwork has existed.

One of the early founders of the name in America was George Carr. He was born in London, about 1599. He was one of four brothers, three of whom, Robert, Caleb, and George came to America. Benjamin remained in England. George was one of the earliest settlers in Salisbury, Mass.; 1639. He was granted an island in the Merrimac river known as ,"Carr's Island", which was the site of the Carr homestead for many years.

Note: It may be supposed that the Isle of Wight County, Virginia family of Carr, descended from the above-mentioned Robert Carr, as the name Robert is repeated over and over. The first John Carr might have been son of a Robert. As has been stated elsewhere, John Carr did not patent land for his own coming over. He may have been born in Va.

The history of the Carr Family, of Isle of Wight County, Va., apparently begins with John Carr, who was granted 150 acres of land near the head of Southern Branch of Nansemond River, on the 20 Nov., 1654, for the transportation of three persons- William Hardy, David Carr,and Edmond Worrell. ("Pioneers & Cavaliers", by Nelll Nugent.) As John Carr did not receive 50 acres for his own transportation, he had evidently come to the colony at an earlier date, or was a descendant of another Carr family.

In Surry County,which adjoins Isle of Wight, there is to be found a non cupative will of one John Carr (Deeds 2- Page 164) proved by the oaths of William Walding,and Elizabeth Coggin, who stated that on the 5th of March,1677, John Carr,dying, gave to Joseph Farlow all of his possessions,land and personal effects, among which was a Bible, and stated that his partner, Joseph Farlow, should pay all debts. No children, nor wife was mentioned.

If this is the John Carr that came over with three others,and did not leave a descendent, then it is quite possible that the Carr line of descent came through the David Carr, mentioned previously.

Thomas Carr died in Surry County without a will. The inventory of his estate made by Edward Rowell, executor on May 1st, 1694,gives no clue as to whether,or not, he left descendants.

To return to Isle of Wight County, we do not find a record of the Carr family until a deed made June 28, 1714,wJohn Carr buys land from Nicholas Tynes, this land being in the Upper Parish of Isle of Wight County.

This John Carr is probably the same who made a will in Isle of Wight County, 19th May, 1734. In this will he mentioned sons, among whom was William Carr. No will of William Carr appears among the Isle of Wight records, and it is due to the fact that he was living across the County Line in Nansemond County, along with other Carr families. There must have been recorded in Nansemond County several wills of the Carr Family in the time that elapsed between the record of John Carr, 1654, and the first Carr will filed in Isle of Wight County, 1734, eighty years.

Michael Brewer and William Carr sold to Thomas English 70 acres, part of 200 acres that belonged to William Vaughan, from him to Wm. Carr. This deed dated 1st Nov., 1768.

One Ann English, daughter of Thomas and Mary Inglish, was already the wife of Nathan ~~English~~ Carr in 1763. As we have no will of Willian English, it becomes evident that this Willian Carr, and Thomas Inglish were the parents of Nathan Carr, and Ann Inglish.

Thomas Inglish made a will, and mentioned his wife, Mary. Subsequently, Mary English made her will, in which she mentioned her daughter, Ann, and her son-in-law, Nathan Carr, and her grandson, Thomas Carr.

Thomas Carr married Charlotte Beale, daughter of Benjamin Beale, Jr. and his wife, Elizabeth, in Southampton County on June 25, 1789.

Thomas Carr made his will in Isle of Wight County in 1816. He left a son, Nathan Carr, and other children. He devised to his son, Nathan 102½ acres on Branch that leads to Beaver Dam Branch.

The record of the marriage of the above Nathan Carr cannot be located, but as the Nathan Carr records appear in the old Bible of John Carr and his wife, Nancy, it appears that the wife of Nathan Carr-Nancy- was Nancy Carr, daughter of Mohn Carr, and his wife, Nancy.

The children of Nathan Carr, and his wife, Nancy are recorded thus:

Mary Elizabeth	born	April 11, 1818
Ann Matilda	born	Dec. 11, 1819.
Eliza ANN	born	Oct. 29, 1821
Sophia Jane	born	Jan. 30, 1823.
James T.	born	April 8, 1825.
Benjamine Lavana		May 4, 1828
Emaline	born	June 1, 1829.

The marriage of Eliza Ann Carr to Jesse Whitehead is recorded in the Marriage Book of Isle of Wight County. This is recorded as Jan. 1, 1843. Parent, Nathan Carr. Eliza Ann Carr Whitehead died November 12, 1899. Jesse Whitehead died August 19, 1876. They were the parents of seven children, namely:

William J.	born	June21, 1845
Sarah Elizabeth		Feb. 7, 1847.
Virginia T.		Jan. 7, 1849.
Jesse T.		May 28, 1854.
Eva E.		Oct. 30, 1856.
Julius		Jan. 16, 1859.

Sarah Elizabeth Whitehead was married to Thomas W.Goring in the home of her father at Carrsville, Isle of Wight County, on Novemver 24, 1866.

Miscellaneous.

In the history entitled," seventeenth Century Isle of Wight County Virginia", by John Bennett Boddie, with whom Mrs. Charles E. Davis collaborated to produce, and on page 362, there is found the statement that Elias Carr was Governor of North Carolina. He was the son of Jonas Johnston Carr & Elizabeth Hilliard, and grandson of Col. Jonas Johnston and his wife, Miss Carr. Page 497 of the same book states that Robert Carr mar. the daughter of John Lawrence.

A visit to the State Library, in Richmond, Va., and a careful search of the Court Order Books of Isle of Wight County revealed nothing of any particular interest concerning the Carr Family.

The very absence from the records of litigation and disputes, indicates them to have been law-abiding, peace-loving citizens.

Lazarus Carr appears to have been a cabinet maker, who also made coffins. Copeland Parker, of Isle of Wight, whose distinguished son, Col. Josiah Parker lived at "Macclesfield" was also a cabinet maker; so they must have occupied a position as a craftsman, and highly respected.

Nathan Carr was found to be owning 260 acres of land in Nansemond County, in the year, 1785. Thre others by the name of Carr owned land in Nansemond County, and no doubt living there. These were

John Carr (1783) with 679 acres (Nethan may have been his son)
Mrs. Carr (1785) with 321 acres
Titus Carr (1783) with 266 acres.

In the year 1794 (Nansemond County) Nathan Carr had 260 acres and Elisha Carr had 100 acres, John Carr 250 acres.

Thomas Carr is listed as Revolutionary Soldier, of Strathmey.
